

but now I ³ feel O.K. and am going to work out my own salvation.
I'm a great believer in Will Power.

We had a good "Thanksgiving Day" (the last Thursday in November) had roast Possum for dinner, yum! yum!!
I wish you could have had some we shall try & get a Wild Turkey for Christmas. we remembered that we rec'd Harold's Cablegram last Thanksgiving Day, saying he had come thro' O.K. - yes we get some little fresh story out of him nearly every day. he told me yesterday of the time he was a runner carrying despatches. They had driven the Huns back to the Hindenburg line and was holding them waiting for dark to dig their trench when he was sent with a despatch and had to cross a half mile of open field running parallell to the Hun trenches he would be exposed all the way. but it was full of shell holes and he thought he could perhaps hide. He had to carry his rifle & full kit and he started across, and they began to snipe him not only with rifles but with a one pounder using shrapnel. They first dropped a little short, next went a little beyond, but at last they got his range and he was like a rabbit dodging from one shell hole to another trying to get back which he succeeded in doing and went around the open field. —

Mamma says its time for children to go to bed so Goodnight my dear old sis. Have a Merry Christmas this year. And with renewed love for you for another Happy Year in which we all join, and a Hug & Kiss from me.

Loveingly
Bro Sam
