

never expect him to be loyal to the U.S. - They seem to be brave and fight well in numbers when under command. but I've never met one who would fight singly unless he had a big advantage some way. a good front can cow them every time. There's only one thing I admire in them and that is their painstaking thoroughness, and that appears to be a national characteristic. They are plodding & thrifty, waste little or nothing.

Well my dear, I've chatted along and said little, but it will be a call and remind you of yr old Bro who loves you. hope you & Hubert both keep well wondered if he got his Easter holiday & how you spent it. Fondest love to you my dear old sis. Bro Sam.
